WUMB Boston Folk Festival

The Boston Folk Festival, the main event of UMass Boston's Folk Radio Station (WUMB-FM) has taken place at UMass Boston since 1999. One of the main aims of the festival is to expose broad audiences to the diversity and vitality of the Massachusetts folk arts communities.

In 1 996, after a town-hall style forum designed to discuss the preservation of folk music into the 21st c entury, a plan to ensure the preservation of folk music in Massachusetts began to take shape. In 1998, the first incarnation of the Boston Folk Festival took place at local venues and on historic Boston Common. In 1999, the festival moved to its new home here at UMass Boston.

The 2003 Festival boasted a diverse line-up of performers from traditional folk to bluegrass to fusion to blues. Concerts. workshops and family sing-alongs took place at the five stages scattered throughout the Harbor Campus. Attendance was upwards of 9000 people. Chantey cruises on the good ship Hurricane took off from Fox Point and brought festival goers around Boston Harbor and those with children in tow could stop by an activities area well stocked with kite-making supplies and other crafty projects to keep young ones occupied. Headliners of the 2003 festival included: Emmylou Harris, Tom Rush, Luther "Guitar Jr." Johnson and Koko Taylor.

During the popular workshop sessions, several performers come together on stage and discuss songwriting craft, instrumentation and other tricks of the folk trade.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES HEALTH FAIR

Each year, University Health Services holds a General Health Fair in the Fall semester. The McCormack Building's first floor corridor is filled end to end with informational tables to help students learn what is offered to them by the Counseling Center,
General Medicine and Wellness
Center divisions of the Health

Services Department. At the fair students can also learn about other programs available to them through off-campus companies and institutions. Volunteers and representatives are on hand all day to answer questions, hand out brochures and dish out free ice cream and other goodies.

UMB Talent Show

This university is blessed with talent and what better way to show it off than to have a talent show. The talent shows consist of various performances from singing to rapping and from poetry reciting to fashion display. Many of the students enjoy being able to demonstrate their talents on stage and in front of a small audience that is just as unique as the performers. The size of the audience gives just enough support without being too over-whelming. The performers can have conversations with the audience and really feel their support. The best way to show school spirit is to joint this evening of sharing.

UMB Jazz

The UMB Jazz Band is the product of a jazz music performance class, open to all students, that focuses primarily on helping students learn to analyze, interpret, perform, and improvise on the "standard jazz" and "classic jazz" repertoire. Each semester, students audition for the class and instructor Peter Janson develops the curriculum to surf student needs. The Jazz Band has performed the music and arrangements of artists such as Duke Ellington, Miles Davis, Billie Holiday and many others. The band puts on a recital each semester and also performs at various events throughout the year.

Laetitia Lutts sings her heart out at the winter recital.

Between songs the band awaits direction from Professor Janson.

THE CENTER IN THE FALL

Above is a picture of the atrium area looking towards the one-stop. Here students will be able to get all questions answered for registration and financial aid.

The first floor level will have many uses once they get this mess cleaned up. It will be host to many events that will make the student life on campus inviting.

We will see just how exciting this will be in the next few months when everything is completed and everyone starts to move in.

Almost there!!! The new student center was nearing completion in the fall semester. It was an exciting time of the school year as students wondered what it would look like when it was completed. The construction was going on during classes and as students would pass by from one class to the next, they would watch as the center took its shape.

To the left is a picture of the cafeteria before the move- in.

Wow !! Look at all that space.

Large entryways like this one will give students a chance to gather.

The offices in the student center will be open space.

The New Campus Center Grand Opening

With the Campus Center finished it was timeto celebrate, There were guest speakers, poetry readings, local bands played on a stage that was located on the first floor, sumo wreatling and even gambling during the evening celebration. A children's choir started the opening festivities and they continued to hold events for the next couple of days.

UMB Guest Speakers

UMB Guest Speakers

The faculty and staff at UMass Boston provide a wonderful learning environment for continued learning outside of the classrooms. Nearly all the departments or schools are host of special events with guest speakers, from round table events, lunch-ins to even early morning breakfast discussions. The discussions going on at UMB are active as well as informative. Students learn in a practical setting and bring diversity to all topics of discussion.

The big story for this year's hockey team was a last-minute coaching adjustment. On January 16, 24-year-old UMB alumnus and Assistant Coach Michael Bertoni was told he would be taking over while Head Coach Jack Foley took a medical leave of absence. After six months as Interim Head Coach, Bertoni was named to the position permanently. Despite a tough year, hockey has enjoyed a storied history as part of UMass Boson's athletic program.

With an E CAC Division III championship and a 24-3 record in the 1981-82 season and a high level of success since, the Beacons annually field a team that can compete with any in the nation.

The Beacon hockey program has produced a number of outstanding players, including All-America defenseman Bill Innocent, and in recent years has seen forward Jeff Mead and goaltender Gene Bono move on to the professional ranks. (some text provided by Alan Wickstrom)

UMB Student Centers & Clubs

Student Centers & Clubs

The wonderful aspect about the student life here at UMass Boston is the many student Centers and Clubs or organizations that the university sponsors. These clubs highlight the student life and diversity that surrounds us here at the university. Behind their open doors are caring individuals willing and eager to make any student feel at home.

Moving clockwise from the top right is the Caribbean Club and under them is another picture of two members dressed for an event. Next to them and on the bottom is the coordinator for the Disabilities Center, and above that a picture of the coordinators of the Queer Student Center.

The Spring Talent Show

Because ever semester here at UMB brings new talent, we have more shows to put on. The spring semester showcased bands, from heavy metal/rap to a soloist on guitar, and we cannot forget the to mention the fashion displays by the black student center. All was hot fresh and exciting, bringing new faces to the stage and touching our hearts and minds.
